
Judy,
You've been a great and I hope you remain
to be a great friend.
We've had alot of classes together and we've both had alot of fun. Remember Wally + our Rep + Dem arguments.
and how about our fights with
Mr. D. Rogers.

Good Luck in the Future and in whatever you do!

Judy,
I've known you for a few years because of church. You've always been a sweet, funny girl. But I haven't known you well enough. I'm just getting to know you through school and I'm glad of it. Much Luck in everything you do (you probably won't need it)

Love,
Kim

Hey Jude,
It's really been fun listening to you in trig. I could listen to you forever. You'll make a great teacher someday. Sometime I'll come back to school and let you teach me some math!
You're fantastic!
Loveya
Scott

Mom,
how can I ever thank you for the advice and friendship that you've extended to me all these years? Remember all the fun in government (why did I write that, I meant science club in eight grade!) Remember what a fool I was (in senate and always) love + kisses,
Honda

(stay as sweet as you are and someday someone will eat you!)

Judy,
A really sweet, cute girl that I'm just getting to know. Good Luck in your endeavors & know you'll reach your goals because you got what it takes. Don't forget Trig & know I never will!!
Love, Lori

Trident 1975
Brunswick High School
3581 Center Road
Brunswick, OH 44212
Volume 18

Now, as capacity-filled BHS adds another building and another 1,000 students, Brunswick is no longer a small, rural community; neither is BHS.

The future West House will house new students and new memories of a bigger and better Brunswick. New friends, experiences and teachers await next year's freshmen.

In 1965 overcrowded BHS moved to its new home on Route 303. Now, only 10 year later, the steel skeleton of another building towers above the woods.

Students in the 1974-75 school year felt the squeeze as split schedules were used to accommodate 2,300 pupils in a building built for 1,600.

Clubs met at night; most seniors began classes at 7 a.m.; freshmen stayed until 4:30 p.m.; band members put in eight-hour school days; and Brunswick JVS'ers caught a shuttle bus to their new home at 7:15 a.m.

But we survived.

Even though Brunswick was packed to the gills, many good changes came about:

The Commons remained garbage free after underclassmen were forbidden entrance.

Thanksgiving vacation swelled from four to eight days after the Dec. 1 blizzard that buried school buses and left Brunswick residents stranded at home.

And last, but not least, was the controversial smoking lounge. The smoke eventually cleared and for the first time in many years the restrooms were once again used for their original purpose.

The human race runs faster every day — graduation, a new life and new discoveries become memories all too soon.

The 1975 Trident will span the past year, weld fragments of adventures and expand forgotten sentiments of past football games, plays, concerts, dances, tests, field trips and teachers.

Tomorrow never comes. It is a goal. And it is all the yesterdays, both good and bad, that let us Build for the Future.

BHS turns back time to old Verona

A queen, a dance, a sprinkling fountain all spelled a magic weekend as BHS held its annual Homecoming, Oct. 12.

Spirits ran high at the pep assembly where Laura Galla was announced queen. She then reigned over the game against Orrville Friday night before which Sherrie Morton accepted the first-place trophy for the junior class float, "Put the Riders in a Jam." In a tough game the Red Riders stole a Blue Devil victory with a score of 28-6.

At the dance on Saturday Pat Purcell, president of the Student House, announced the court.

Queen Laura Galla was escorted by captain Dave Rohde, and senior attendants Kathy Lonero and Sheila Brickey were escorted by Bob Sprosty and Mike Golod. Rick Greenya escorted junior attendant Lisa Butcher and Rich Medlen accompanied Deb Simcak. Mark Johnson accompanied Deb Farkasofsky, and freshman attendant Princess McMillan was escorted by Steve Ficyk, completing the court.

For one night the cafeteria was transformed into the romantic courtyard of Romeo and Juliet with the theme "A Time For Us." A fountain surrounded by loveseats transported the guests to old Verona.

IOE reconstructs office atmosphere

The 1974-75 school year marked a great deal of change in BHS, including the work programs. From December to June senior IOE began a new program called Apex in which each girl had her own simulated office job.

Junior IOE prepared for their promotion by journeying to both the JVS and Westfield Company to view the business classes and facilities and the office procedures respectively.

OWE II performed many services to the community besides their regular class work, including a traffic survey in view of the widening of Route 303. They also collected food for needy families in Medina County and delivered a Christmas tree to Willowood Nursing Home.

Work-study programs lead to jobs

DECA has always been one of the most active clubs in the school and this year was no exception. Besides holding a Christmas party for retarded children and a shoplifting program for Middle School students, they also sponsored many fund-raising projects. The proceeds from these project went into an account with a goal of $82 for each student. The money was then used for a trip to New York in cooperation with JVS Club and Brooklyn's DECA Club.

OWA's activities for the year included field trips to NASA and TEREX and several fund-raising projects. The money was used for their annual employer-employee banquet along with OWE I at the Holiday Inn May 14, the symbol of a job well done.

Band jazzes up humdrum lives

This year marked the last of the Brunswick Band Horseshows due to the construction of the West House. Along with the annual Tag Days, this had provided them with needed money to buy new uniforms. Besides playing for the regular concerts, the BHS Band also tuned up for the dedication of the Theodore Neura Youth Center and the Brecksville Veterans Hospital. Stage Band, a branch of the concert band, played for its annual Christmas and spring dances and Pep Band jazzed up the Cleveland State game against Fairfield in addition to all home basketball games.

Thespians produce dramatic plays

Ticket committees, stage crews, publicity departments, costumes—just a few of the enormous jobs which members of Drama Club took on to produce the plays this year. From Anything Goes to the Curious Savage, Drama Club was the everpresent force which spurred them on.

Once the stage was set, Thespians joined forces with Drama Club and many choir members in supplying actors and actresses for the musical. Besides the productions, thespians also traveled to the Thespian Conference on March 7-8 at Otterbein College. There they picked up some acting tips by attending the production, A Streetcar Named Desire, starring the television actor Robert Forster.

Career clubs give experience

Helping others is important in our world today and this was the objective of several clubs in 1975. Science Club, interested in ecology, hiked through Holden Arboratum and sent representatives to the restortion meeting for the Brunswick Town Hall. They also held the annual Science Fair on March 8 and a lively evening of fun on Polka Night, May 10.

FSA, in its second year of organization, was involved in the personal research of scientific matters, which they sent to various colleges for evaluation.

In the summer of 1975, F.H.A. entered in competition at the Medina County Fair. They also made clothes for Helping Hand and visited several nursing homes to read and talk to the patients.

F.T.A., as in previous years, was involved in a program of teaching at Towslee Elementary School.

Students work between classes

"Good Morning. This is station WBHS bringing you the morning announcements." This greeting from the student announcers crackled over the loudspeaker fourth period daily to inform students of school news.

Office aides signed students in and out of school, answered phones and helped the five secretaries.

Library and AV aides kept track of the constant flow of books, projectors and films.

Community service is key work

Clubs come and they go. Rarely in this year of the anti-club movement did one spring up and survive. Until Brick Club. It was created to patrol the Commons and after seven false fire alarms in one day it was given the additional task of guarding the fire alarms. They finished off the year with the progressive renovating of the Senior Commons.

Varsity Club's major project consisted of raising $2400 for a new weight machine for BHS by selling fertilizer and holding car washes.

Notice that sticky feeling on the desks after long vacations?

Well, cleaning the school desks was just one of the literally hundreds of tasks performed by Key Club.

This year most of their profits from such activities as the haunted house, Markwood Magic Show, and working with the LPGA Golf Tournament went to Operation Youth.

These people were also responsible for setting up the Christmas tree in the Commons and decorating the one at City Hall. Then, too, Key Club members stirred up school spirit with the WGCL petition contest. For the first time in a long time students of BHS were united in a single cause. And that's what clubs are all about.

Hobbies extend beyond school

The swish of snow, the clashing of poles, the tug of a tow-rope — these summed up Ski Club's first year at Brandywine. On Feb. 22 these skiers tackled the really big slopes at New York's Peek-n-Peek.

Ham Radio had a busy year of conventions and field trips. In Cuyahoga Falls they bought equipment — a New Jersey sound theater — and in Dayton attended the Hamvention. They also had a special session on ELE Day to show students how to communicate by ham radio.

Students have more power

Ever wonder if Student Government actually does any work? This year they had a hand in almost every all-school activity. Student House pushed for the controversial smoking lounge and succeeded in getting one established. These people also sponsored ELE day for the second year and organized an area-wide student exchange program. Student Senate was hardly idle either in its efforts to improve the school grounds by planting trees and shrubs in the courtyard. But despite the tension in our overcrowded school, Student Court held a record year of no cases.

'Devilier,' debate win top awards

"Extra, extra, read all about it! Seventeen controversial issues of the 'Devilier' hot off the press." April 24 the Devilier staff journeyed to Kent State for the annual Press Day where six members walked away with honors.

Students were given the opportunity to purchase the Trident only twice this year. Since the book contained more writing to explain the everyday life of BHS than in previous years, putting it together entailed much more work and effort.

The debate team held a fairly successful year by taking third place in their three debates against Midpark, Berea, and Orange Schools. They also attended an all events tournaments at St. Ignatius and a discussion workshop at Akron.

Clubs help spark student interest

December 17 marked the rebirth of Shakespeare as members of Quill and Scroll joined the antics of Carol Burnett and the play "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet" along with scenes from "Hamlet" to produce a festival for the seniors. In addition, Quill and Scroll also combined the best literary efforts in the school for the publication of the Muse.

NHS instituted a student exchange program this year among the schools in Medina County to compare the individual merits of each. It also inducted fifty new members Feb. 27 in its annual candlelight ceremony.

Members of Latin Club traveled to a convention in Columbus March 14 where they competed with other schools in Roman history.

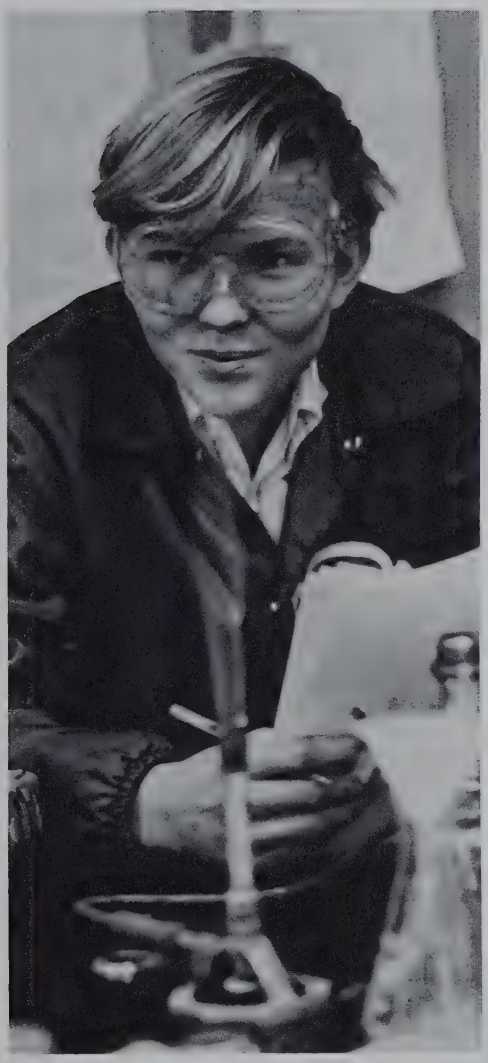
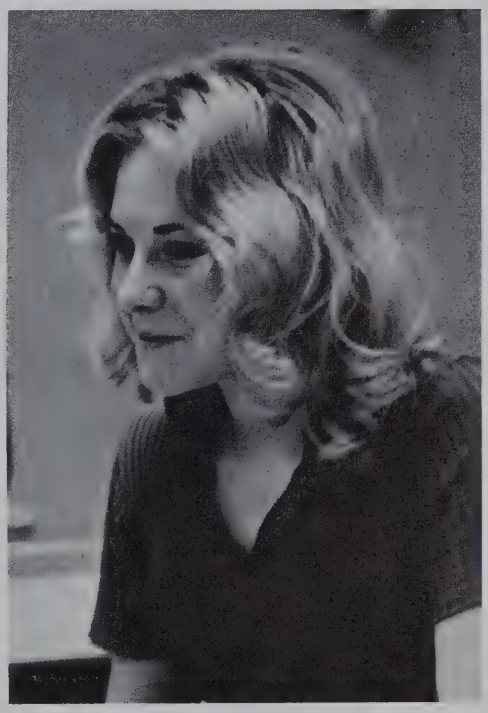
Underclassmen





Freshmen make impression with outstanding football record, 6-0-1

This year's freshman class, the largest in Brunswick High School's history, numbered 697 students. The West House, a separate addition to the high school was started this year to house next year's even larger freshman class.

The Class of '78 excelled in many fields. They were active in sports, plays, and all aspects of music.

First time participants in BHS's production were Margie Hay and Bill Fleming.

The freshman football squad showed that Brunswick was a winner as they defeated Wadsworth, Cloverleaf, and Oriville during regular season play. Their final record was 6-0-1, good enough for first place in the Chippewa Conference.

The freshman class had a new experience while studying Shakespeare. They had the chance to view the film version of "Romeo and Juliet" in its original text.

Their talent in music was evident as many freshmen joined the choir and chorous. In late winter, freshmen participated in the solo and ensemble contest for competetive ratings.

"Is it true blondes have more fun?" quips Terri O'Neil to Ruby Campbell.

Sophs enter main stream of BHS; become involved in sports, clubs

The sophomores were flung into the thick of BHS life, marking the change from a freshman to a true high school student.

This year's sophomores received their class rings and jackets, showing everyone that they were the Class of '77.

By joining clubs, sports, and becoming active in student government, the sophomores became involved in BHS. The float, depicting a graveyard and bearing the motto, "Ride the Raiders to the Grave," competed favorably by winning second place.

Carl Prokop starred in "Anything Goes," the annual musical, and several other sophomores took responsible positions on stage and behind the scenes. Fontaine Follansbee, already a veteran of many plays, continued her acting career by singing and dancing in the musical.

Although many sophomores breathed a sigh of relief at their last year of gym, several outstanding sophomores became active in gymnastic sports. In this new group of interscholastic gymnists were Dave Wilson and Debbie Farkosofsky.

If you make this basket, you'll tie the score at 40-40.

Juniors raise money, select theme for prom, a never-ending task

Raising enough money for this year's Junior-Senior Prom was the class of 76's main goal. Selling chocolate bars, Valentine carnations, and holding car washes helped them realize their goal.

The juniors had many other activities that kept them busy through out the whole year. Their homecoming float with the theme of "Put the Riders in a Jam" won first place.

At Christmas time the juniors were treated to a talent show held by the American Studies class under the direction of Mr. Earl Fessenden and Mr. Clyde Kincaid. These students displayed their talents, singing and pantomining skits.

Toward the end of the year, the juniors cast an anxious eye toward the Commons and the privileges that awaited them as seniors. On May 30 the class of '76 ended its reign as the junior class, becoming the seniors.

Perhaps the juniors were most actively involved in making memories — the kinds that will last a lifetime.

Spirit resounds at athletic events

The 1975 cheerleaders again were busy rousing spirit around BHS. The girls attended summer camp in West Virginia and held a very successful mini-cheerleading clinic to keep themselves busy.

Miss Blue Devil, Laura Galla, was chosen the outstanding cheerleader and received her second-year award. Sue Reising won a second-year award and the academic achievement award.

Adviser, Mrs. Jill Vavra, was very pleased with all the girls spirit.

Devilettes show big improvement

The 1974 volleyball season was a year of marked improvement for both the varsity and junior varsity squads. The varsity finished the year 7-5 overall, with a 3-4 mark in South Suburban Girls Athletic Conference action. The junior varsity had an outstanding year, finishing 10-2, with a perfect 7-0 in conference play.

Senior Gloria Vukelich was the team's most valuable player and served as co-captain along with Debra Dolby.

Juniors Diane Bloom and Vicki Ferio captained the junior varsity squad through the season. Miss Fletcher eagerly looks forward to next season with 13 of 16 girls returning for another year of action.

Outstanding team depth gives harriers 17th place in state

First-year coach Joe Kendrick guided the cross-country team to its finest season ever. The squad finished first in six major invitationals, including the sectional. The harries went on to the state finals, where they placed 17th in the class AAA meet.

Coach Kendrick eagerly looks forward to an even better season next year, as senior Mike Faler will be the only runner not returning.

Senior Mike Faler, junior Bob Miller and sophomore Dan Laux earned Chippewa Conference all-star plaques. Laux proved to be the surprise of the season by leading the runners through the sectional and district races.

Sue Foy and Cindy Wyszynski were the first girls in BHS history to participate on the cross-country squad. Next year more girls are expected in cross-country with separate meets and invitational divisions for them.

Injuries hamper BHS grid season

The Blue Devil varsity football team had a disappointing season. The tough schedule took its toll on the squad with rough foes, such as Normandy, Wadsworth, and defending Class AA state champion, Benedictine.

Coach Chuck Reisland's squad was hampered throughout the year with injuries and never had every starter present for one game.

Despite their 1-9 record, the scores indicated that they were within one touchdown in four of the losses.

Nine gridders receive honors

Several gridders earned post-season honors for their accomplishments during the year.

Seniors Dave Rohde, Gary Peterson and Bob Sprosty captained the Blue Devils. Junior Rick Greenya was selected as the Most Improved Player. Mike Golod was the top offensive back, Lance Pearce was the top defensive lineman, Rick Andrews was the top defensive back, and Tony Stabile had the most tackles. Joe Wilson won the Hungry Hound Award and Mike Keefe won the Star Award.

Young gridders have outstanding year

The junior varsity had an outstanding season under Coach Rich Nowak, finishing 5-2-1. Many of the team's gridders were elevated to varsity, ruining the chances of an undefeated season. Junior Rich Medlen was the team's leading rusher, while Bob Petelin and Don Faigin were the top tacklers. At one time in the season, the squad had won five straight games, including a 26-12 romp over Benedictine. The team outscored their opponents, 130-82.

Coaches Pete Goulis and Ed Pucci led the frosh to their finest season. With a record of 6-0-1, the team's defense never allowed a single touchdown to be scored upon them. Steve Ficyk had a fine year at quarterback and Chuck Dyer, Steve Hengeli, Ron Kohuth, John Lamp, and Jim Petelin contributed enormously.

Girls win third SSGAA crown

The Devilette basketball team won its third straight South Suburban Girls Athletic Association crown, finishing the league schedule 6-1.

The highlight of the season was a record-setting 81-36 trouncing of Normandy.

Linda Kennedy scored a season high 150 points and was named the most valuable offensive player. Debbie Reed was co-captain, the most valuable defensive player and had a 55 percent free throw average.

Monica Dorfner was the most improved, Jill Stilgenbauer garnered the most rebounds, Janelle Eyssen was the most spirited, and Anita Wiseman was the other co-captain.

Cagers have disappointing year

The 1974-75 season was a very disappointing one for the varsity basketball team. The squad's only victory came over Chippewa Conference foe, Orrville, in a thrilling game.

Three cagers earned special honors at the end of the season, however. Rick Andrews received the captain's award, Rusty Rogers, the team's leading scorer, was voted the most valuable player and John Vukelich gathered the top field goal percentage and most improved trophies.

Rogers was selected to the first-team all-county and Chippewa Conference squads. Vukelich earned honorable mention on the all-county team.

JV cagers suffer frustrating year

The junior varsity put together a winning season, but were disappointing after winning two consecutive Chippewa Conference championships in their eighth and ninth grade years.

Coach Tim Manco's squad was led by Kerry Hunter, in his ten games before he was promoted to the varsity, and John Reece. Only Darren Rabant, Mike Masterson and Frank Mack played in every game.

Eyssen, Ficyk, Dyer lead team

The freshman basketball team had another good season under coach Richard Christy. The team finished 9-5 and carried a seven game winning streak into the final game against Orrville.

Highlights of the season included a 37-point trouncing of North Royalton and an upset victory over Chippewa champion, Orrville, 32-31.

Top scorers Tim Eyssen, Steve Ficyk and Chuck Dyer dominated the team statistics. Dyer pulled down an amazing 181 rebounds on the year — 92 offensive and 89 defensive — to lead the team in that category.

Strong finish saves grapplers

The Brunswick wrestling team had a slow start, but came on strong toward the season's end. Injuries and sickness hurt the grapplers at the beginning of the year, causing many problems.

The squad traveled to the Cleveland area for the sectional and district meets for the first time. In previous years the team competed in the Akron tournaments.

Finishing 4-4-1, the team failed for the first time in over four years to complete the season with a winning record.

Young grapplers brighten future

The junior varsity wrestlers again compiled a winning dual record under coach Pete Goulis, finishing 6-4. The squad placed sixth in the North Royalton junior varsity tournament by placing six individuals, including a first place by freshman Brad Squires. Mike Thomas was outstanding with a 10-0 record that included nine pins, while Mike Johnson, Rick Howard and Squires all finished undefeated.

The freshman wrestlers finished with a fine 7-1 mark under first-year coach Ed Pucci. Dave Bollinger, Jim Simmerly, Dave Huthmaker, Dennis O'Connor, Dwayne Roberts and Darryl Jenkins all had fine records and look good in future BHS wrestling plans.

Devils share baseball crown

The varsity baseball team had a successful season, despite ending the year 12-13. Co-captains Greg Toler and Jim DuPay led the team to a 8-2 conference record to tie with Wadsworth for first place.

Coach Linn Oring's squad had plenty of power-hitting, but had trouble on their opponent's home fields.

Terry Silkey had the highest batting average (.402), followed by Tony Stabile (.400) and Toler (.391).

Jim Vasarhelyi (4-1) and Toler (5-2) were the top pitchers and Silkey and Stabile each hammered six team-high home runs.

Finish 10-6

3 lead batting with .444

The junior varsity baseball team had another outstanding season under coach Wally Rogers. The squad finished the year, 10-6, with a fine combination of sophomores and freshmen.

Frank Mack, Gene Petronic and Dan Sigado all batted .444 to lead the team. Darren Rabant's four homers were tops, and Bob Petelin, Fred Vick and Mark Johnson performed well, too. Petelin was the winningest pitcher (4-2), with Mike Masterson and Rabant hurling well.

Thinclads lack needed experience

The 1975 track season was a very disappointing one for BHS. First-year coach Paul Schroeder didn't have the needed experience to produce a winning season. Junior Matt Dillon had an all-around outstanding year, competiting in the high jump, 220 yard run, 440 yard run, 880 yard run and assorted relays.

Besides Dillon's fine performances, sophomore Dan Laux was successful in the two-mile run and senior Tom Dubyna set a school discus record.

Gymnastic team formed

Intramurals provided exciting competition at BHS

The intramural program at BHS improved enormously in the 1974-75 school year. Athletic director, Mr. William Kubinski, and intramural director, Mr. Dave Rogers, did an outstanding job in organizing the competition. The program offered bowling, basketball, and softball. The highlight of the year was an exciting in-school basketball game, matching the faculty against the intramural all-stars.

BHS had its first boys and girls gymnastic team competing interscholastically in 1974-75. Coach Rebecca Stolarski handled the tough job of tutoring the 27 athletes. Deb Farkasofsky, Fontaine Follansbee, Debbie Gaking, Becky Hellickson, Justina Saxbe, Sue Vachon, Dave Wilson, and Mike Sandy received special awards for their performances. Coach Stolarski is anxiously looking forward to next season after an important year of experience.

Student Life

ELE Day makes education fun

On May 1 standard classroom curricula found itself locked in cabinets and tucked away in briefcases. Both teachers and students donned jeans, sweatshirts and tennis shoes as the second annual ELE Day began.

Students who stayed in school enjoyed talks by guest speakers. Big Chuck and Hollihan, Tom Batik and Funky Winkerbean, and Ted Lux shared their experiences with students. A rock concert by I Don't Care followed in the afternoon.

At 9:30 a.m. the buses rolled out and headed for such faraway places as Lakewood Planetarium, Hinckley Park and the Zoo. Students went roller skating, fishing, golfing or kite flying.

'Anything Goes' on the high seas.

The 1930's came alive at B.H.S. in the form of Cole Porter's musical, "Anything Goes." The cast played to four sell out audiences.

Reno Sweeney and her fallen angels were fast and loose. Gangsters Moon Face Martin and Bonnie sneaking aboard ship, incognito, kept the action afloat. Love triangles flourished as Reno fell for Sir Evelyn Oakleigh who was engaged to Hope Harcourt. (She was seeing Billy Crocker on the side.)

After the play Reno once again became Cindy Adams, Sir Evelyn became Frank Tsacrios and all the rest of the girls, gangsters and passengers turned back to freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors.

The play was directed by Mrs. Nancy Sprowls, Mrs. Margaret Kiene and Mr. Al Sego headed the music portion of the production. Mrs. Donna Lucht choregraphed the show. Student directors were Phyllis John and Maureen Dever.

The King and his knave plot the Queen's defeat.

A faithful servant puts finishing touches on the evil Queen.

In her bed

Pea unites royalty; Queen foiled again

Once upon a time in a faraway land there lived a prince who was very unhappy. He needed a bride — a bride of royal blood. A princess. The Queen, slightly over protective, schemed to disqualify the current princess, Winifred, with an insignificant dried pea. But as in all fairy tales, the evil Queen was defeated by the hero — the King.

The Princess and the Pea was performed at least twice a day during its run. The cast, under the direction of Mr. Howard Cook, frightened, pleased and excited the little people of the elementary schools.

Princess Winifred is pooped after hours of dancing.

Exit stage left Spring play is a total disaster

How many times can Rick Lowther miss a cue? The doorway wasn't that high (but why did Fontaine trip over it three times?), and why did the left half of Joe Chernosky's moustache keep falling off during Act III? Probably because it was all a part of the winter play, The Torch-bearers. Under the direction of Mrs. J. Duro Pampinelli, (Cheryl Kulmala), any production has the possibility of becoming total chaos even before the first curtain is raised.

How do you tell a cast of budding young Katherine Hepburns, that they are not? This presents quite a problem for Fred Ritter (Frank Tsacrios) the only person who can see that Mrs. P. is creating a riot instead of a play.

The production was filled with hysterical chaos which took a lot of hard work and timing by the cast and true life director, Mrs. Nancy Sprowls.

Even special guest stars dropped in to wish Mrs. P. and cast good luck. They were from Brunswick Entertainment, The Masquers, and Bob Markwood and faculty members, Des Brannan and Earl Fessenden.

First night jitters are too much for Nelly Fell.

Eccentric old ladies are quite common, but how many of them have blue hair? One. Ethyl P. Savage. She also has three children who would like nothing better than to put mom in a "home" and run off with the money, which is exactly what they try to do. Titus, Samuel, and Lily Bell might have succeeded had it not been for Mrs. Savage's friends at "Cloisters" who vow to defend her to the end.

The 11-member cast directed by Howard Cook practiced long hours to perfect each character. Curious Savage was a grin and a giggle comedy with the message that money and happiness are not inseperable.

Conference play has jitters

The case and crew of the Torchbearers gave a repeat performance at the 1975 Chippews Conference in West Holmes. Once again the curtain rose on Act II bringing all the panic and fright that goes with opening night in the small town theater.

Fontaine Follansbee tripped through doors, Joe Chernosky's mustache still spent most of the play on the floor, Barb Ott lost the script, and Cheryl Kulmala herded everyone through the dramatic disaster. In other words, the play was a success. Joe Chernosky came home with a membership in the all-star cast.

JVS opens new doors for tomorrow

As any government student knows, residents may live in as many as two school districts. Brunswick became a part of the JVS when Medina County Joint Vocational School opened its door for the first time in 1975. First year problems to be ironed out were communications between the home school and the JVS. Students from Brunswick, Highland, Orrville, and even Medina, left old rivalries behind for new alliances.

"Book learnin'" stepped aside for labs in cosmotology, medical and dental technology, culinary arts, business, horticulture, child care, C.O.E., commercial designing, graphic arts, welding and electronics, and VICA.

79 visit tropic island

Seniors agree — Bon Voyage BHS — Aloha Bahamas

When planning a class trip, Cedar Point in Sandusky, or even far away King's Island in Cincinnati comes to mind. But not to the adventurous seniors of '75. Seventy-nine took a chance of a lifetime trip to the sunny Bahamas, for seven fun-filled days (and nights), for a mere $219.00.

Remember Kung Fu Fighter, Surfin' USA, and Please Mr. Postman? Those and other songs filled the commons with sounds of the outside world. What filled the juke box? Money. The dimes and quarters financed senior Frank Tsacrios' trip to Washington D.C. to attend the Presidential Classroom in March. The Commons was also home for a giant, eight-foot Christmas pine, with hand-crafted ornaments from jolly seniors.

With thermostats turned low to economize, early morning government classes were often quite brisk. Even more brisk was the cold, hard steel of the Commons. The Brick Club tackled the chore of home-i-fying the Commons. Members under the direction of John Szlag, managed to dig up three couches, end tables, and lamps. Even the wall took on a new permission to paint them.

Even though the Brunswick Blue Devils as a team, could not qualify for district tournaments, the senior class produced top quality, individual athletes. Rusty Rogers, co-captain of the varsity basketball team was the only round-baller to dribble his was into the All-county squad. The dynamic duo of Wiseman and Reed led the Devilettes to a victory in the South Suburban Girls Athletic Association.

As freshmen, the 1975 seniors entered BHS when overcrowded classrooms and halls were nonexistent; greasers were tuff, and as the last class to open Homecoming festivities with the traditional bonfire.

They leave with memories of Mr. Fessenden and rock music, The Commons, Mr. Gimbel and government tests, the juke box, Mr. Gimbel and government tests, the candy machines, Mr. Gimbel and government tests, Senior skip day, and Mr. Gimbel's government tests.

Phyllis John takes advantage of the Commons' comfortable couch.

Dining, dancing make Prom fun

On May 24 at 9 p.m. Michaud's Towne-'N-Country bustled with the excitement of the Gay Nineties.

When the gaslights dimmed, prom goers waltzed, polkaed, foxtroted and fruged to the sound of the Royal Kings.

At the intermission senior John Szlag emceed the presentation of the prom court. John proclaimed Mike Keefe and Sue Smalley King and Queen with their court: Cindy Adams and Mike Golod; Barb Ott and Frank Tsacrios; Patty Weiland and Jim Westfall; Kathy Lonero and Mark Wolk; Becky Teagarden and Jim DuPay; and Rusty Rogers and Laura Galla.

The crowd parted as the court danced to the senior class song, "Time in a Bottle."

After the dance everyone enjoyed dinner right in the hall. This prom first was complete with a barber shop quartet to serenade hungry prom-goers.

At 12:30 a.m. the hall began to clear and the Gay Nineties stepped back into the page of history.

Queen Sue and King Mike lead the court dance.

Cindy Adams and Amy Schillace enjoyed the "really big shoe."

"What do you mean? My bow is not on backwards," exclaims John Szlag to Sherrie Morton.

Prom-goers turn their attention to "Down by the Old Mill Stream."

Barb Ott and Frank Tsacrios pause to grin.

The 1975 Prom Court consisted of: Rusty Rogers and Laura Galla, Jim Dupay and Becky Teagarden, Mark Wolk and Kathy Lonero, Queen Sue Smalley and Mike Keefe, Patty Weiland and Jim Westfall, Barb Ott and Frank Tsacrios, and Cindy Adams and Mike Golod.

Casting aside all diets, Prom-goers enjoyed a feast fit for a king.

402 graduates bid BHS farewell

On June 3, 402 seniors marched through the doors of the Baldwin-Wallace fieldhouse to the tear-jerking, "Pomp and Circumstance."

Mr. J. D. Willetts gave the graduation address, followed by speeches from the top academic students, Barbara Ott and Debra Dolby. Principal C. R. Huston passed out all 402 diplomas and then uttered the infamous words, "The Class of 1975 is now graduated."

With hardly a dry eye in the room, the class sang the alma mater.

Hugs, kisses and plenty of flashcubes followed, expressing the joy and sorrow that comes with being shoved out of the nest.

Russ Kintop and Bob Grandinetti have their last talk as classmates.

Mr. Sego readies the band for "Pomp and Circumstance."

Jan Popowicz hurries to get into line.

402 seniors await the words, "You are now graduated."

Jim Demsey marches into the hall.

The senior ensemble sings "Time in a Bottle."

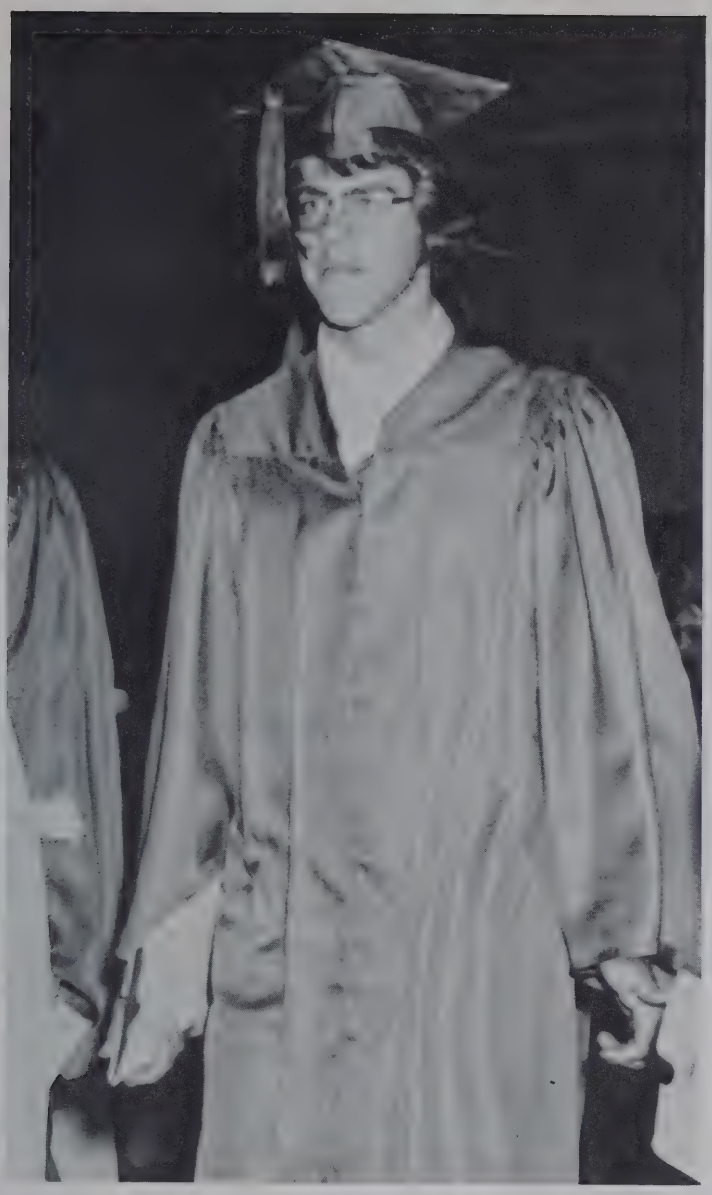
Rev. Henderson leads the assembly in prayer.

Seniors listen to the addresses by Mr. Willetts and the valedictorians.

Mr. Willetts compares students to gymnasts.

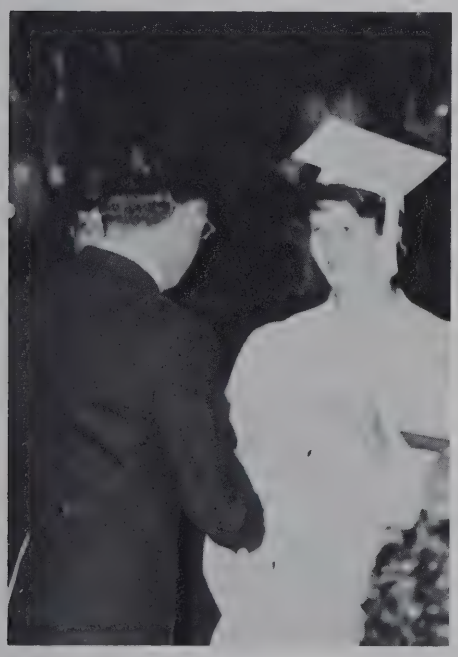
"What are we supposed to do now?"

Barb Ott speaks to the seniors and Debra Dolby, co-valedictorian, receives her diploma.



With determination, Marty Balash strides up for his diploma.

Mr. Benco gives Jim Lucas a handshake and a diploma.



Becky Teagarden gets her sheepskin.

It's all over but the shoutin'.

Superintendent resigns

Administration tries to keep pace through personnel changes, additions

Time brought a few changes in the administration last year. The biggest change was the resignation of the Superintendent of Brunswick School, J. D. Willetts. Mr. Willetts said good-by to the Brunswick School System after 17 years of service, dating back to 1958.

Mr. C. R. Huston's job was made a little easier when Mr. James Hayas left his twelfth grade English classes to become one of two unit principals.

Mr. Robert Joos paused from his running cross-country and other track and field events to become the Dean of Boys. He and the Dean of Girls, Miss Nancy Young, worked together to solve the problems of students and student behavior.

The five secretaries, Mrs. Ficyk, Mrs. Steiger, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Mortelette and Mrs. Palya, held the office and school together by performing their daily tasks to run the office smoothly and efficiently. All of these persons made the administrators job a little easier.

Mr. Joos awaits a student in his office.

English? It isn't all grammar!

In and out of the classroom, English took on a new look.

Freshman English teachers continued to prepare their students for courses that will follow by stressing writing fundamentals, literature and communications.

After reading Agatha Christie's And Then There Were None, the sophomores saw the film which starred Albert Finney as Hercule Piorot.

American Studies added a new phase to its learning experiences with simulation games and an environmental activities, and a Shakespearean festival was added to the curriculum of senior honors English.

The Muse, a collection of literary pieces submitted by high school students, was published by the senior honors class and was larger and more sophicated than last year's.

Even a trip to Stan Hywet Hall near Akron served as an out-of-school classroom as the students increased their knowledge of tudor architecture.

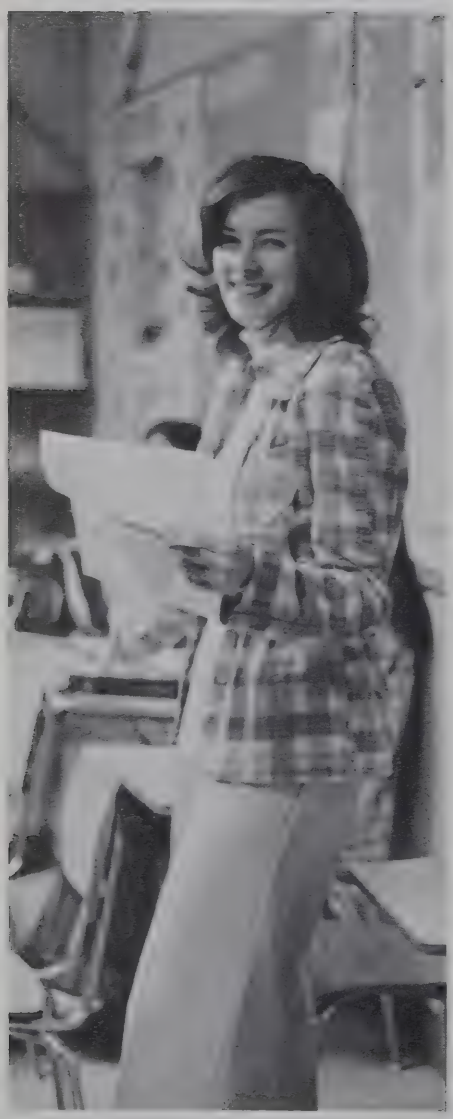
Languages make world friendlier, more interesting place for students

BHS language teachers provided a countless number of activities for students ingaged in the language program last year.

Baldwin-Wallace College held a foreign Language Day to acquaint students with foreign languages. Students learned more about their particular language interests, the customs of the people and how all combined together to make one world.

Latin students held an authentic Roman banquet as well as an archeological dig to study past civilizations.

And German students attended a play and dined at the German Hofbrau Haus for a taste of an old-fashion German meal.



"Your Latin needs pronounced improvement," smiles Mrs. Krueger.

History remains as students' challenge

Where did you say Oslo was?

Trying to find obscure places around the world was a challenge to many in world geography as students traced famous voyagers about the Seven Seas.

But the last six weeks found them closer to home as they looked at the United States.

Seniors, as in previous years, despised government classes, but this year teachers made it a little easier for them. The classes were divided into six-week periods by mini-courses.

The courses ranged from buying and selling real estate to current events.

Math adds up

With the everrising costs of living, mathematics became increasingly important to students last year.

Teachers taught courses ranging from simple percentages of interest problems, to solving for unknowns, to figuring out the complexities of calculus.

The ups and downs of the economy helped some students as they searched for answers to their money problems.

When it came to buying food, a ticket to a game or parts for the car, students learned to appreciate the value of working those math problems over and over.

Scientific needs cause expansion

The science department last year expanded by adding ISCS and enviromental science. ISCS took the basic skills of students and used them in experiments.

Environmental science students, meanwhile, took a look at the pollution problems of the area and the world.

College bound students found shorthand or notehand essential to their curriculum. Their notetaking skills rapidly increased as the year went by.

Senior I.O.E. girls had an advantage to working as a secretary. They spent a week in the office learning the different techniques of being a secretary.

BHS occupational work programs become increasingly important

OWE students have learned the real value of the dollar this past year. Making out checks, buying cars and insurance, and obtaining loans were just a few of the topics covered in the new curriculum of accentuated practicalities in OWE last year.

For the first time, OWE and OWA members combined their banquets into one at the Holiday Inn in order to say a special thanks to their employers and to honor the outstanding students.

DE, Distributive Education and its affiliate club, DECCA, filled its year with numerous activities ranging form selling candy canes at Christmas time to the selling of earrings in the spring.

Mr. Neal Eiber, the club's adviser, allowed job study in everything from advertising to theater.

While the boys were in the kitchen, the girls were fixing leaky faucets, broken irons and many other appliances for the home in the new Fix-n-Furnish class.

Band, choir perform

Music department's talent stands out in festivals, concerts, commencement

This year's BHS band overjoyed audiences with its annual five concerts. The thrilling performance of the "1812 Overture" at the annual Festival of Bands set the audience on edge before bringing it to its feet in applause.

The band, along with the choir, participated in the Medina County Music Day. Students traveled to schools to clinics designed to increase their knowledge of music.

Members of the choir also participated in the festival of Choirs and solo and ensemble contests. Senior members of the choir donated one more everlasting memory to the Class of '75 and their guests at graduation ceremonies this year as they performed at Baldwin-Wallace for the BHS commencement.

Opening its second season, the BHS dance band entertained at two dances this year.

The Pep Band once again performed at the basketball games and at a Cleveland State University football game.

Under the instruction of Mr. Becks, Mrs. Meers, Mr. Piro and Mr. Reisland, students learned the fundamental skills of driving as well as the rules and regulations of the road.

Combined, students drove over 33,000 miles last year.

Dancing becomes gym class sport

With the gym turned into a barn and the teachers and their fiddles ready to play, the freshmen and sophomores were told to square their sets.

Last year the gym classes learned square dancing, modern dancing and folk dancing terms and how to put them to use.

Gymnastics was the high point at NHS also last year as coach Becky Stolarski looked for students who would do well for next year.

The boys took to the fields but not for football or baseball. Last year they were divided into teams and played soccer.

Miss Stolarski is puzzled over a student's report.

Mrs. Kirsch smiles as she realizes that statistics show a victory.

"One, two, touch your toes!"

"Sick again?" questions Mr. Lyden.

Counselors have eye to the future

Need help with a college choice? Should you attend the JVS? What should you take in your senior year? In moments of indecision, the counselors were there to help.

Students looking for a job were informed to see Mr. Robert Lyden for information. He placed students in jobs ranging from babysitting to being a receptionist.

Pastors, books help BHS students

Did you ever have a problem and had no one to talk to?

The pastor of the day was always in the school, ready to listen to you and offer counseling.

Ministers from local churches gave of their time daily to participate in the Pastor of the Day program at BHS. In addition to listening to students' problems, these men were available for teachers who needed an expert on religion or for people who just wanted to talk.

Filled to the brim at the end of school with students trying to finish term papers, the library was always available to the industrious.

If it wasn't a research paper, students could always pick up a novel or thumb through a magazine. Regardless, the library had something for everyone and the staff was more than willing to help you find it.

Pastors of the Day were: the Rev. Long, the Rev. Redecker, the Rev. Thompson, and the Rev. Schibler.

Staff never stops

Mowing the grass, replacing broken windows and cleaning the floors are just a few of the jobs that Mr. Bob Heazlit and Mrs. Helen Van Wie must do every day.

Without their conscientious efforts the school would never be ready in the fall nor spic and span at the beginning of every school day.

The cooks tried their best every day of the school year to provide a balanced meal for nearly 1,600 students. Last year they were hard pressed to prepare those meals over five lunch periods.

"No, I'm not going shopping," explains Mrs. Helen Van Wie.

Mr. Robert Heazlit drives away on his mower.

"Don't show everyone what we're eating," say the cooks.

Judy,
To a fellow
Trigonometrist (?).
I hope life isn't as boring
as that class, will atleast all things aren't like that. To a really good actrice, another Bette Davis

Judy!
Joe Skiier! I'm really looking forward to this 76' season. You are still one of the greatest friends anyone (especially me) could ask for. Good Luck.
God Bless,
Love ya,
Karen

Took what the wind blows in when you leave the door open; Although we haven't known each other long & feel we've come to be good friends. Stay like you are and you'll go far.
Love
Jan

Judy,
Always remember me
fun times we've had in school. Altho you weren't in the elite studies class you are in N.H.S. the super elite group of the school. Love,
Rick

Judy,
Though I just got to know you well in my SENIOR year, I gotta say you're a good friend and person. A little radical (I wanna go to homecoming, so we'll go stag!)
perhaps, but it adds spice to life right?
I hope all your dreams come true! Good Luck in the wide world. God Bless and keep you, you "Bumpable" person. Get Down.
Love Lina #.

Judy,
To a really sweet
girl and a great friend.
Hope to see ya next year in college. Good luck and ~~[illegible]~~ God bless. Love,
"76" Sue
P.S. Basketball Bob loves ya too! Good old blue-boy!

Judy,
Dear and very friend. I'll always remember. I'll always life. I'll never forget ya for all the great times we had. I mean really, who could ever forget ya for Cheap, Cheap, W.H.B.W., Daisy 2 ueen? Bimbos, Riddle, Doddle
etc. Well Riddle, I think I'll sign off now.
Love ya always, God Bless and good luck in the future and in everything you do.

Judy
To a great girl
that I just don't see enough of. Luck to ya
Basil

Judy,
To a great person and a real friend.
Never forget all our good times and
our home ec. classes.
You'll always be
"Auntie-Judy" to me
'76
Love,
Joyce

Judy,
Your a heck of a good Kid & wouldn't do anything for any-me! Stay Sweet & as warm as you always are I wish you luck
after School in whatever you decide to do!
Be good & remember
me!
K. Love,
Hoa

Hey Judy, all the good times
we had a have
in HTCXM &
Davy DeBeAu
I can just feel it & wove you
